

Extron CEO Sandeep Duggal to Host Webinar on Asia-Centric Supply Chains

MILPITAS, CA — (April 11, 2011) — Extron, a leading provider of supply chain solutions, announces that CEO Sandeep Duggal will host a Webinar titled “Managing Risks of an Asia-Centric Supply Chain”. The Webinar is scheduled to take place Thursday, May 5, 2011 at 10 a.m. PST.

The Webinar is intended to address how operations and business executives should navigate today's rapidly changing supply chain environment and strategically realign their supply chains to address the risks involved in an Asia-centric supply chain.

Supply chain professionals, CFOs, COOS, VPs of operations or manufacturing, supply chain directors, managers (supply chain/logistics), risk managers and compliance executives should attend the Webinar to learn more about the following topics:

- The risks associated with an Asia-centric supply chain
- How to lower your risk profile if your supply chain is Asia-centric
- How to manage intellectual property (IP) risk of an outsourced supply chain
- Managing rapidly escalating freight cost exposure in a global supply chain
- How to be more cost-effective

Sandeep Duggal has served as the CEO of Extron since 2002. Mr. Duggal is responsible for setting and executing the company's strategy, business development, and overall company performance. Prior to joining Extron, Mr. Duggal held high-level positions with Sun Microsystems, Intel Corp, and the Monitor Company.

Mr. Duggal holds an undergraduate degree in Mechanical Engineering from the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor, a graduate degree in Industrial Engineering/Engineering Management from Stanford University, and an MBA with distinction from The Harvard Business School of Harvard University.
